Computers for Low Income Calgarians

The CLIC program provides low-income Calgarians with free computer for home use.

Thanks to the many companies, our sponsors, and people like you, this innovative and highly successful program has provided thousands of computers to low-income Calgarians. Some of the beneficiaries include single parents who lack computer resources for their children to keep up with their school-work and personal growth.

Every free computer comes equipped with:

What You Get

- Computer tower
- Monitor, keyboard and mouse
- Microsoft Windows®
- Open Office
- Anti-virus, spyware removal and other free utilities

Preparation for A+ Certification

Delivered through CLIC program, low-income or client volunteers learn to prepare themselves to challenge the A+ Certification through the use of on-line materials and hands-on software and hardware training.

Certification

A+ certification validates the knowledge and skills of entry-level computer service technicians.

Donate a Computer. Change a Life

If you have a computer or computers to donate please contact the CLIC office at 403-699-8281.
